Snow Angels Come Alive for Online Dating

Santa's Helpers to Die For

BANGOR, Maine, USA, December 15, 2009 – One of the most intriguing subjects in the world of literature embraces tales of mythical, beautiful women shrouded in a Wintery environment of snow and ice. From Scandinavia, The Snow Queen, a fairy tale by Hans Christian Anderson, portrays the struggle between good and evil as orchestrated by a bewitching, not totally altruistic, ice maiden, who seemingly enjoys the havoc she spawns. The story of The Snow Girl, Sneguroshka in Russian, incarnates its feature character in a number of romantic ways. In one tale she's Santa's curvy helper, sometimes granddaughter, dressed to kill in white or red lace or a form fitting blue frock. In another popular theme she takes the form of a girl made of snow brought to life by the longing of an aging couple for a daughter of their own. As the story goes, the Snow Girl finally melts into vapor as her heart warms to her lover.

Throughout the world's winter climes such stories about mysterious and beautiful women abound. Now, in time for the coming winter solstice, premier international online dating portal Anastasia International celebrates this enigmatic manifestation of Russian women with Anastasia's Snow Angel 2009 Competition. In the contest, Anastasia has assembled a flurry of 32 of her coolest specimens of frosty femininity from across Russia and CIS, set in a virtual winter wonderland for men across the globe to vote for online at AnastasiaSnowAngel.com. Not to be confused with the patterns children create by lying in a snow bed and flailing their arms, Anastasia's Snow Angels represent the finest in holiday delicacies for men everywhere to admire and savor.
