Valentine's Day Chat-a-thon Accelerates Romantic Revolution. Innovative Approach to Online Dating Lets Love Flourish.

BANGOR, Maine, USA, February 11, 2010 – Exhilarating stories of love on Valentine's Day have always been a tremendous inspiration. Ever since Saint Valentine gave his life in 270 AD for secretly marrying couples against the wishes of Rome's Emperor Claudius II, romance has found much simpler forms of execution. Today intoxicated strangers discover each other in nightclubs, childhood sweethearts bump into each other while out shopping, and love-struck couples follow the slightly riskier path of workplace relationships.

Valentine's Day on February 14 reminds us all that the essence of dating remains old-fashioned. But 21st century technology has delivered many new channels of success: digital flower and gift orders, e-cards and electronic messages, automatic matchmaking, and discovery of a perfect partner via the internet. Statistics even show that over 19 percent of marriages now originate online, while social networking websites like Facebook have become de rigeur for announcing new relationships to friends and family.

Dating pioneer Anastasia International continues to expand the passionate options on Valentine's Day with the launch of an extra-special Chat-a-Thon from 10am to midnight EST on February 14. Based on the streamlined Live Chat service on <http://www.anastasiadate.com/top1000.htm/>, the event will lead Western men to fall truly, madly, deeply for a vibrant love-nest of sparkling ladies from across Russia and CIS.

To get Cupid's arrows firing at full blaze, all members have to do is open a chat window instantaneously with one determined click. Delightful Slavic beauties infused with Valentine's passion will also be actively seeking their soul-mate by sending messages to appealing guys. One esteemed method that turns gentlemen crazy in love is Live Chat with Video, which offers a tantalizing view of the Russian delight chatting via webcam.

The flash-mob dating approach of Anastasia's Chat-a-Thon is sure to increase the number of success stories on this special day of love.
